Re: Keystone Landfill Superfund Site

EPA's "Remedial Project Manager" will attend the March 29 PACE meeting to bring us up to date on what EPA is doing to clean up the Keystone Superfund site. Are you wondering just what has been accomplished in the ten years since EPA began its "work" in our community? Join your neighbors and others who are concerned about our community - let's show these EPA officials that we care and that we demand that they do their jobs and CLEAN UP THE KEYSTONE LANDFILL SUPERFUND SITE! EPA has assured PACE that the Project Manager will come to this meeting prepared to give us answers to three immediate concerns:

1. Which of our residential wells will be tested - and when?
2. Will signs be posted at the landfill identifying it as a Superfund site?
3. Will EPA "allow" us to be represented at EPA's meetings about this site?

EPA has also promised - if time allows - to address questions from us at this meeting. Also on the agenda: information from PACE about the "Health Assessment" recently completed by EPA on our community, county and state activities concerning the site, and YOUR suggestions, YOUR questions, YOUR ideas!

Nationwide Let Them Eat Cake Sale !!!

PAGE is joining other grassroots groups nationwide when we say, "Let them eat cake!!!" to all polluters who want to ruin our communities - and especially to the corporation which owns Keystone Landfill, the federal Superfund site in our community. That's right . . . let them eat cake . . . a piece of the victory cake which will be ours when we join the hundreds of communities like our own which have won their local fights all across our nation!

Brewer's Market
Rain or Shine!

How can you help? How can you show that we are together... that we support one another. . . that we can raise all the money we need to beat back Keystone Landfill and restore our community? Call Sue Kowick, chairperson of this activity, at 848-4856 to volunteer to donate baked goods for this event and, then, round up all your friends and family and come to Brewer's Market on April 24th. Buy something good - and send a message to Keystone!
